Technical Assistance Update and Next Steps

Focus Strategies began its work in Minnesota to improve the coordinated entry (CE) assessment and prioritization tool and process. This includes 1) an assessment of the current CE system and tool, 2) engagement with stakeholders, including special populations (e.g. tribes, youth, domestic violence victims, veterans), and 3) researching alternative tools. The following outlines Focus Strategies expected timeline and more detailed steps.

1. Assessment of Minnesota's current CEPAT and the process related to CE implementation, cultural sensitivity and trauma awareness:
   - January and February 2020: Review CE policies and procedures; review training materials from continuums of care (CoCs), the Minnesota Tribal Collaborative and state homeless programs
   - February and March 2020: Analyze CE/HMIS data focusing on disparities in VI-SPDAT scores by race, age, and gender

2. Engagement with stakeholders including special populations:
   - January and February 2020: Interview key stakeholders by email, video, or phone
   - March and April 2020: Host in-person focus group meetings

3. Research alternative tools:
   - January and February 2020: Narrowed down to four alternative tools that are currently used in Houston, Vermont, communities in west coast, and revised VI-SPDAT; continue to further pare down alternative tools
   - April and May 2020: Develop final recommendations

Engagement Opportunities for Stakeholders

In collaboration with the TA provider, the CEPAT work group will be engaging with CE stakeholders. This will include activities connecting with individuals and groups by geographic areas (inner-city, suburban, rural), special populations (tribes, youth, domestic violence victims, veterans, others), roles in CE system (assessors, prioritization list managers), agencies that accept referrals from CE), and people with lived experiences. The input collection process will be ongoing and efforts will include remote meeting technologies and in-person meetings in late March or early April. The work group will also target membership recruitment among special sub-populations.
